Frozen Shoulder Seminar Wows Canadian Chiropractors

OTZ Health Education Systems Teaches Proven Method to Treat Adhesive Capsulitis

[DALLAS – JUNE 2013] One-To-Zero (OTZ) Health Education Systems (www.otzhealthed.com), founded by internationally renowned chiropractor Dr. Francis X. Murphy, held a 2-day seminar on its revolutionary frozen shoulder treatment this past weekend in Edmonton. OTZ trains licensed chiropractors to use its proven, non-surgical occipital-atlanto diversified analysis and adjusting technique for the treatment of Frozen Shoulder Syndrome and numerous other neurological conditions. OTZ has previously held seminars in the US, UK, Paris, Brazil and Toronto, and will return to Edmonton September 21-22, 2013.

OTZ trains chiropractors in the evaluation and care to improve nervous system function via the correction of occipital-atlanto subluxation. This subluxation pattern, known as Hatcher-Murphy Subluxation (HMS), shows manifestation or dysfunction of the tissues involving the brainstem, the vagal nerve or cranial nerve 10 and the spinal accessory nerve or cranial nerve 11. When this occipital-atlanto manifestation is corrected, it seems to have an immediate impact on multiple disorders and behaviors.

According to Dr. Murphy, the reason he started OTZ was to “Train more doctors to resolve what could be six to nine million Frozen Shoulder Syndrome cases in the United States alone.” Dr. Murphy adds, “My staff and I have successfully applied the occipital-atlanto adjustment to thousands of patients in my Dallas clinic alone. We regularly see patients from all over the United States and many other countries. This effective treatment can be and must be more broadly available, and that’s why OTZ is here.”

Statistic show that 3-4% of the population between the ages of 40 and 70 suffer from Frozen Shoulder Syndrome. By those estimates, the demand for doctors who can effectively treat this condition is significant across the region and country, and is expected to continue to grow as Baby Boomers age.

The feedback received from the doctors in attendance at the Edmonton Seminar was overwhelmingly positive. “If you don’t do the OTZ Method, your patients are missing out,” says Dr. Jeremy Thomas of Restoration Chiropractic in St. Albert, Alberta. Dr. Bryan Redpath of Capilano Chiropractic Clinic in Edmonton says, “This technique is a game changer. This has been one of the most impressive seminars I have attended in my 37 years of practice.”

OTZ Health Education Systems regularly holds events and seminars around the world. The team will be presenting in conjunction with The International Chiropractic Pediatric Association (ICPA) in July and will be returning to Edmonton in September. Their research findings were also recently published in the December 2012 Edition of The Journal of Chiropractic Medicine.
