Revolutionary Frozen Shoulder Treatment Goes International

OTZ Health Education Systems Announces Three Planned Seminars Across Canada

[DALLAS – MARCH 2013] One-To-Zero (OTZ) Health Education Systems (www.otzhealthed.com), founded by internationally renowned chiropractor Dr. Francis X. Murphy, has announced that it will travel to Canada throughout the course of 2013 to hold seminars teaching the occipital-atlanto adjustment for the treatment of Frozen Shoulder Syndrome. OTZ trains licensed chiropractors to use its proven, non-surgical diagnosis and treatment to relieve the conditions that cause Frozen Shoulder Syndrome. The OTZ Seminars will take place in Toronto, March 23-24 and in Edmonton June 1-2 and September 21-22, 2013.

According to Dr. Murphy, the reason he started OTZ was to “Train more doctors to resolve what could be six to nine million Frozen Shoulder Syndrome cases in the United States alone.” Dr. Murphy adds, “My staff and I have successfully applied the occipital-atlanto adjustment to more than 1000 patients in my Dallas clinic alone. We regularly see patients from all over the United States and many other countries. This effective treatment can be and must be more broadly available, and that’s why OTZ is here.”

Statistic show that 3-4% of the population between the ages of 40 and 70 suffer from Frozen Shoulder Syndrome, and it is estimated that up to 90,000 individuals currently suffer from the condition in the Dallas region. By those estimates, the demand for doctors who can effectively treat this condition is significant across the region and country, and is expected to continue to grow as Baby Boomers age.

OTZ also regularly holds events and seminars at Parker University in Dallas, TX. Dr. Murphy was recently a featured presenter at the Parker University Adjustathon, an event held to educate the community about the benefits of chiropractic care. His research findings were also published in the December 2012 Edition of The Journal of Chiropractic Medicine.
